SENATE REVOLT STARTED

Reed Leads It, but Democratic Majority Seems to Be Certain.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—By a vote of 241 to 103 the House of Representatives adopted the conference report on the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill to-day.

The measure has thus been advanced one step nearer the statute books. Only the concurrence of the Senate and approval by the President remain now for the bill to become a law and effective at once.

The Democratic leaders believe that the Senate will finish consideration of the bill within a day or two and that President Wilson probably will receive it in time to give it his approval by Saturday night.

The indications to-night, though, were that trouble is brewing for the conference report in the Senate. Senator Reed of Missouri, a Democrat, announced that he would not vote for the conference report in its present form unless he is bound to do so by caucus action.

Calls for Another Caucus.

Mr. Reed started the circulation of a petition calling for another caucus of Democratic Senators to make changes in the bill. Other Democratic Senators are disgruntled over certain features, but it is doubtful if the opposition will be able to put any serious obstacles in the way of the final adoption of the conference report.

This was a great Democratic day in the House. Speaker Clark made a speech in which he congratulated everybody in the Democratic party and predicted that the new tariff would bring great prosperity. His speech aroused much enthusiasm.

In his address Chairman Underwood clung to dry figures and facts. He denied the charge made by Representative Payne of New York, Republican, that the new tariff would create a deficit, contending that calculations of experts demonstrated beyond doubt that the new law in its first year would yield enough to keep the wheels of government in motion and at the same time supply a surplus of approximately $18,000,000.

Four and a half hours debate was allowed on the report and the discussion at times was bitterly partisan. Progressive Leader Murdock scouted the thought frequently expressed by the Democrats that the new tariff would reduce the cost of living. He asserted that more important factors than mere customs laws entered into that equation.

Democrats have found to their sorrow that it is unwise to oppose the Administration and only four of them strayed off the party reservation to-day. Representatives Lazear, Morgan and Broussard of Louisiana, who are opposed to free sugar, and Representative Donahue of Pennsylvania, who wanted more protection on certain products turned out in his district, and was disappointed, were the only members of the President's party who had the temerity to vote against the conference report.

Representatives Stafford and Cary of Wisconsin, Republicans, the first regular and the other an insurgent; Representatives Kelly of Pennsylvania and McDonald of Michigan, Bull Moose, and Representative Kent of California, who calls himself an independent, voted with the Democrats.

Underwood Gets Applause.

Representative Underwood was applauded when he arose to call up the conference report.

The bill, as it is now presented to the House, will in his judgment, said Mr. Underwood, "reach an average in duties of a little over 26 per cent, almost as low as the famous Walker bill that had low taxes on liquor and tobacco, and the tax on some products raises the average of this bill very much."

"So for all intents and purposes this bill, on the average, lower taxation than any bill that has been presented in three-quarters of a century. The Wilson bill carried an average rate of 39.45 per cent, the Payne bill an average of 40.12 per cent."

Mr. Underwood then proceeded to discuss the revenue producing qualities of the bill.

"The income tax, leaving out those features of it that relate to the taxing of corporations," he said, "will produce $32,000,000. The corporation part of the income tax, it is estimated, will produce $18,000,000. The customs taxes for the year 1915, it is estimated, will produce $21,000,000."

"Taking into consideration other sources of revenue the Government will collect in 1915 something like $1,026,000,000. If the expenditures do not exceed $1,000,000,000, which is the amount that will be required for Government purposes next year, we will have a surplus of $26,000,000. We can consider a safe balance on the right side of the ledger."

Representative Payne, who led the debate for the Republicans, ridiculed Mr. Underwood's figures. He declared that the figures really showed that the first year of the operation of the Democratic tariff would result in a deficit of $20,000,000.

He predicted disaster for the new tariff and the party responsible for it, and ended severely as he indulged his dismal prophecies.

Speaker Clark was applauded wildly as he

STILWELL ILL IN SING SING.

Former Senator's Friends Say They Fear He Has Consumption.

Stephen J. Stilwell, convicted of bribery as a State Senator, who entered Sing Sing on July 15 to stay four years, is in such bad shape physically that his friends are frightened and Stilwell himself has applied to be transferred to Great Meadow prison, at Comstock, in the Adirondack foothills.

Stilwell's friends think he has consumption. No one knows whether or not he thinks so himself. He is reticent about his ailments, and about all he will say is "I'm pretty nearly all in."

"That's what he told a friend last week when he spoke of his effort to get moved to Great Meadow prison. Great Meadow is a place of clean, single cells, with much fresh air, where the prisoners work outdoors. At Sing Sing Stilwell has been working in the supplies office adding figures and doing general bookkeeping. He has had no favors at the hands of Warden Clancy, although the two have known each other for years.

Transfers from Sing Sing and Auburn prisons to Great Meadow are for good conduct and the time served. A well-behaved man who has done half or more of his sentence stands a good show of going to Great Meadow, which is conducted on the honor system.

One of the chief reasons why Stilwell has withstood all efforts to get him to confess to Senate bribery and involve others is that in many particulars his story could not be corroborated, his friends say. It is explained that in possible disclosures it would be Stilwell's word against everybody else's, and the ex-Senator feels that he would only put himself "in worse" without furnishing evidence that would hold in court.

GIRL HURT AS OELRICHS CAR RUNS INTO TREE

Her Companion Vanishes After
Broadway Accident; She Says
He's Columbia Student.

A touring car smashed into a tree at Broadway and 126th street last night and a young woman was tossed from it to the ground. She was unconscious when picked up. When she regained her senses at the Knickerbocker Hospital she said she was Lucile Singleton, 19 years old, of 806 West 115th street.

The number of this wrecked touring car was 139354 N. Y. This, the police said, belonged to Hermann Oelrichs of 1 East Fifty-seventh street.

Whoever was driving the car had disappeared when Patrolman Wassung of the West 125th street station arrived and found the girl in the automobile of Adolf Schultz of 557 West 124th street. Mr. Schultz and another man had picked up the girl and placed her in his machine.

The girl had been hurled through the glass windshield of the car. Her face and breast were cut.

According to the police the girl said that a young man named Craighorn, who lived at 434 Riverside Drive, the Delta Psi fraternity house of Columbia University, was driving the wrecked car.

At that address it was said last night that Craighorn lived there, but that there were two "Craighorn" brothers who were now in the West. Hermann Oelrichs, Jr. they said, was a friend of the Craighorn brothers and often came to see them.

At 406 West 115th street, which was the address the young woman gave, there is a Mrs. Dobbin said that she had rented a room a few weeks ago to Miss Singleton, who had been attending a girls' school in Westchester, Pa.

Mrs. Dobbin said that Miss Singleton's home was in Texas and that she received a handsome allowance from her father, who was engaged in mining in Mexico.

At the Knickerbocker Hospital it was said that the girl's condition was not serious and that she would be able to leave in a few days.

AUTOS KILL THREE CHILDREN.

Three Others Badly Injured by Being Run Over.

Benny Rubin, 3 years old, of 216 Cherry street was playing in the road last evening when a truck owned and driven by Abraham Chesensky of 526 Henry street struck him. The wheels passed over the little fellow, breaking his back. He died while being taken to the Beth Israel Hospital.

About fifteen minutes later thirteen-year-old Bernard Wyder of 247 Monroe street was crossing Cherry street when he slipped and fell under the wheels of a coal truck driven by Michael Boyarsky of 383 Cherry street. An ambulance was summoned from the Gouverneur Hospital, but when it arrived the lad was dead.

Max Chapkowitz, 14 years old, of 160 Trinity avenue, The Bronx, was run down and killed by a motor truck yesterday afternoon when he was roller skating on Cauldwell avenue near 150th street. Witnesses said the truck passed on north without slowing up. The boy was dead when an ambulance from the Lebanon Hospital arrived.

From the license number, the police said, the truck was owned by the Central Brewing Company.

Walter Dalglisch, 14 years old, of 4311 Park avenue, The Bronx, was run down by a delivery wagon near his home. The chauffeur, Robert Ruck, picked up Dalglisch. He was taken to Fordham Hospital with a fractured skull, but the physicians said that he probably would recover.

An automobile bearing the number 83272 N. Y., knocked down Salvatore Schiavelli, 5 years old, of 217 East 107th street, soon after 8 o'clock last night. Dr. Evelyn of Reception Hospital said the boy was suffering from internal injuries and removed him to the hospital. The police records show that the car belongs to Joseph M. Marto of 161 East 107th street.

Francis Morgan, 10 years old, of 53 West 137th street, was crossing the street in front of his home about 9 o'clock last night when an automobile, owned and operated by Edward Birwin of 64 West Fifty-seventh street, struck him and fractured his skull. He is in Harlem Hospital, where he probably will die.

PALISADES BANDITS HOLD UP TWO AUTOS

Wealthy Woman Let Go When She Had No Valuables—Series of Crimes.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Sept. 30.—Highwaymen, who have become bolder because of their recent successes in a series of crimes in the lonely stretches along the Palisades, were out further to-day and held up two automobiles at pistol point.

There is talk among the residents of Englewood of organizing a vigilance committee to guard the roads until the section is cleared of the bad men infesting it. There have been only two arrests recently for highway robbery, and both prisoners were inspected to-day by Chief Magistrate William McAdoo, who with his brother Joseph was robbed in the same region last May. Mr. McAdoo could not positively identify the men.

The robberies to-day occurred within ten minutes of each other in broad daylight, and near the same spot on the Boulevard road, between Tenafly and Englewood, but just within the borough limits of Tenafly.

Mrs. Dan Fellows Platt of Englewood was the victim of one holdup, but she had no valuables with her, and she was allowed to proceed home. In the other case a woman, a prominent lawyer, and his wife and daughter, Catherine, were the victims. This time the robbers got $50 in money, a gold watch and chain belonging to Mr. Mabon, and two valuable diamond rings owned by Mrs. Mabon.

Bandits Jump From Buses.

Mrs. Platt, whose husband is a wealthy retired lawyer and a member of the New Jersey Democratic State committee, was alone for a spin in her machine. She was going slowly along when two men wearing masks hopped out from behind bushes and pointing revolvers at her ordered her to stop. She obeyed.

The men ordered her to throw her money and jewelry into the road.

"I told them I didn't have any valuables with me," said Mrs. Platt tonight. "I held up my hands to show them I wasn't wearing any rings, and they evidently believed me. They told me to drive on."

"I was so nervous and frightened I could hardly keep the automobile straight in the road. One of the men was about 25 years old, dressed neatly in brown, and he wore a little red button in the lapel of his coat. I didn't notice the other man's clothes, but his mask only covered his eyes and his nose."

Ten minutes later Mr. Mabon, driving his own car, came by the same spot. By this time the robbers had dragged an old tree trunk across the road, and Mr. Mabon was forced to slow down. When he came to a stop at the tree trunk two men jumped out from behind trees, each carrying revolvers.

Lined Up Their Victims.

The men commanded the lawyer, his wife and his daughter to get out of the car and line up on the side of the road, all with their hands above their heads.

"One man was very nervous and impatient," said Mr. Mabon later. "I didn't move quick enough to suit him, and he cursed me and struck me on the side of the head with his revolver. They searched me, and were disgusted that they didn't get more. Then they saw the rings on Mrs. Mabon's fingers, and they made her take them off."

"We were then ordered back into the car and told to move on. I had no sooner started than I heard two shots behind me, and I heard my rear tires explode."

He said both robbers appeared to be Americans. They escaped into the woods and went in the direction of Tenafly. Mr. Mabon remained where he was on account of his flat tires. In a few moments Mrs. John Gordon and Mrs. J. P. Dimock of Hackensack came along in a machine, and when they heard what had happened to the Mabons they turned around and towed his machine back to Hackensack.

Meantime Mrs. Gordon's chauffeur was sent to the nearest house and the Englewood police were notified. Chief of Police Titus sent several policemen in an automobile to the Palisades woods and later more armed men joined in the search for the highwaymen. The police of Tenafly sent all their available men, and the police of nearby towns were asked to keep a close watch on the trolley cars and ferriesboats.

MEXICO IMPRESSES AMERICAN.

Sent Off With Troops Despite Protests of Consul.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30.—Esteban E. Fierro, an American citizen and a brother of the Sheriff or chief of police of Laredo, Tex., has been impressed into the Mexican military service and left here to-night with a battalion of troops for Guaymas. Fierro, who is a native Mexican, but an American citizen, was a railroad man. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Secretary of Embassy here, complained to the Minister of Foreign Affairs in regard to the matter on several occasions.

The relations between the Mexican Foreign Office and the American Embassy are strained as the result of this and other questions.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Daily Telegraph says George A. Hearn of New York, who is now on his way to the United States, has bought the late Edwin A. Abbey's picture "Lear and Cordelia," which he intends to present to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

It will be recalled that this painting was bought for $25,000 by Knoedler, the New York art dealer, at the recent sale of the McCulloch collection.

JAPAN SENDS NEW PROTEST.

New Treaty With U. S. Is Suggested in Third Note.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
Tokyo, Sept. 30.—The Japanese Government has sent a third protest to the United States in regard to the California alien land law. The Japanese officials are sanguine that the United States will accept the terms which it proposes, in which case, it is said, a new treaty between the two countries will be necessary.

The terms are said to imply an application of the Roman law with an extension of the President's authority by placing the latter above the veto of the Supreme Court. Article VI, clause 2, of the American Constitution is cited in support of Japan's position.

DR. DIESEL, INVENTOR OF OIL ENGINE, MISSING

Believed to Have Fallen Overboard From Steamer on Way to London.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, Sept. 30.—Dr. Rudolf Diesel, the inventor of the Diesel oil engine, has mysteriously disappeared. He embarked at Antwerp on the Channel steamer Dresden yesterday to attend a business meeting of the Diesel Company in London. He was accompanied by another director of the company named Carls.

When the Dresden reached Harwich Dr. Diesel was missing. It is conjectured that he fell overboard between Antwerp and that place.

Dr. Diesel was born in Paris in 1858 and was educated there, in Augsburg, Germany, and at the Polytechnic College in Munich, where he was much interested in the thermo dynamics. It was while attending a lecture of his favorite professor that he received the first idea of employing the internal combustion method which became the basis of his engine invention.

After getting practical experience in Switzerland Dr. Diesel went to Paris as a consulting engineer. Ever since he left college he had been experimenting with the internal combustion method, but he did not make any attempt at manufacturing. His publication of the pamphlet "Theory and Construction of a Rational Heat Motor" was not well received, but the Augsburg Machine Company and A. Krupp arranged to give him a free hand in carrying out his ideas. He made an engine in 1893, but it never worked. He exhibited his first commercial engine in 1898. Four years before he had helped to design the first marine engine for submarine purposes. Now his engines are used on nearly all of the submarines of the world's navies.

Tax Commissioner Says Lying Won't Help Residents of City.

Bank accounts estimated to amount to $25,000,000 and possibly more are spending a holiday across the river in New Jersey or in Connecticut.

The reason is that to-day is personal property tax day. It has been a custom that amounts now almost to a tradition with some possessors of wealth that the season for migration of bank accounts out of New York city begins and ends with October 1. The accounts come back as early as October 2.

This occurs yearly despite the admonition from Lawson Purdy, president of the Board of Tax Commissioners, that it doesn't affect the taxability of one's personal property in the slightest whether bank accounts are moved to Hoboken or to Hongkong as long as the owner remains a resident of this town. Whatever he owns in the shape of a bank or trust company deposit anywhere, says Mr. Purdy, is taxable by New York city so long as he is a resident of the city.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—President Wilson's plans for the next two months have been changed by the realization that he must cling to Washington if he hopes to push currency legislation through Congress.

GOV. SULZER TOLD HIS BROKER "ACCOUNT 63" WAS HIS WIFE'S

Governor Told His Broker Stocks
Were Mrs. Sulzer's on July 30

Melville B. Fuller, the stock broker whose firm, Harris & Fuller, carried William Sulzer's speculative account for three years, testified yesterday in the impeachment trial at Albany that he had dinner with Gov. Sulzer at the Executive Mansion on July 30 last. After dinner the two men were alone in the library, and Mr. Fuller testified:

"Gov. Sulzer said to me, 'Mr. Fuller, you know that these securities were Mrs. Sulzer's, don't you?' and I said, 'No, I did not.'"

"Well," he said, 'these securities belonged to Mrs. Sulzer when I brought them to you. She had a loan with the Carnegie Trust Company. They required me to give a note every three months, and it was very annoying, so I took the securities down to you and borrowed the money from you.'"

"I said to Gov. Sulzer, 'That may all be true, but there is no evidence of anything of that kind on my books, and cannot be proved by me. If it is true you will have no trouble in proving it, as the books of the Carnegie Trust Company must be a matter of record.'"

Cornelius S. Pinckney, who gave $200 to the Governor in the campaign,

"If I remember, his exact words were:

"I do not intend to account for these kind of gifts, they must be made to me personally; don't say anything about it; simply between yourself and myself."

Mr. Sulzer asked Mr. Pinckney to make out the check to Louis A. Sarecky's order.

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 30.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge's condition took a change for the better to-night and soon after 8 o'clock Mr. Lodge said:

"Senator Lodge passed a quiet and restful afternoon and early evening. He is entirely free from fever. His attending physicians pronounced his condition entirely satisfactory on their visit late this afternoon. They will not return again until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning."
